EMPIRE OR SELF DETERMINATION.

BY MAJOR H. J. GILLESPIE, D. S. O.

There comes a time when even the most sincere idealists should cease from talking sentimental nonsense; when, for example, Irishmen, Indians, and Egyptians should cease orating about Liberty and pause to regard Facts. That moment is overdue.

Ireland wants a republic. India wants Home Rule. Egypt wants the abrogation of the Protectorate. Their nationals talk as if they were asking for no more than self-determination, and as if they understood what self-determination means. In so doing they are talking in the language of another world, or at least of another hemisphere. The Englishman in the railway carriage makes answer in terms of "self-government within the Empire." He is talking humbug. Neither party realises how ludicrous is its attitude. The oppressed nationalities really believe that Liberty and Justice, as such, have a place in imperial politics. The Englishman really thinks that "self-government within the Empire" means something.

But then all of them thought that we fought the European War for the sake of little Belgium, and anyone who believed that will believe anything.

What are the Irish and the Indians and the Egyptians really asking for? The dissolution of the British Empire. Nothing less.

What the Words Mean.

Very few English Socialists, and practically no Labour men, understand the meaning, either of Empire or self-determination. But then most English Socialists are sentimentalists, and a Labour man who is not a Socialist, or a Communist, is a man without a philosophy, or with two, and therefore does not count in Real Politik, except as a pawn. Anybody can move him in the required direction on the appointed day. A few Tories understand; and that is why, under various designations, they control the reins of power—and the machine guns.

Consider Ireland as a Republic, blocking the exits from Britain to the Western Ocean and the New World, as Britain herself blocks them for Northern Europe; intercepting British trade and developing trade of her own in times of peace, looking in through the back window in time of war.

Consider Egypt, commanding the exits from Europe to the Indies and the Far East, the bridge between Asia and Africa, and cleanse your mind of cant about "safeguards."

Imagine India a self-governing country, able to exploit her own material resources and geographical situation in the markets of the Middle and Far East, in competition with the "Mother" country.

Incompatibility.

Then ask yourself if self-determination is compatible with Empire. There are certain fragments of the earth's surface the possession of which is essential to a "British Empire" founded upon maritime power and commerce. Ireland, the outlets to the Mediterranean, Singapore, are among them. The British Empire, like a blind octopus unconscious of its own directing brain, has acquired them all in the course of becoming an Empire. It could not become an Empire without doing so. It cannot remain an Empire without retaining repressive control over them.

And yet Irishmen, Indians and Egyptian ask us to give them up in the name of self-determination, for the sake of justice because of our pledged word, for the honour of the Empire.

How absurd! No Briton who believes in Empire could possibly agree. He will find some high-sounding moral reason for refusing or some meaningless counter-proposal as a "compromise."

Another Acid Test.

It is another of those awkward acid tests. Are you an Imperialist or an Anti-Imperialist? Do you believe the Empire is worth preserving or better dissolved? Unfortunately many English Socialists and Labour men are at the bottom of their heart Imperialists. They call it preserving and extending the British institutions of justice and representative Government. The Tory Imperialist calls it the White Man's Burden or the Pax Britannica. The German Imperialist called it Kultur.

Most Englishmen fought in the Great War to preserve this thing. Some few fought in it—also in the British Army—in order to destroy it through the chimera of victory.

Perhaps at the time their consciousness was not very clear on the subject. It has become clearer since the Armistice. They, at any rate, do not speak of Empire and self-determination in the same breath. They do not believe, in the co-existence of the British Empire and the League of Nations, or of the war to end war, or even of Peace with Empire.—The "Daily Herald."

The Company has been formed for the purpose inter alia of acquiring from Messrs. Kilburn and Co., the license granted to them by the Government of Bengal to establish an Electrical Power Station near Asansol, and to supply Electrical Energy to Collieries, and for industrial and other purposes throughout the Raneeunge Coalfield in the first instance, and in such other districts and/or places for which similar licenses may be obtained in future.

In view of the acute shortage of coal throughout the world, close attention is being paid to the questions of improved mining methods and reduction of mining costs. A commission has recently been appointed by Government to examine and report as to the best means of giving effect to the recommendations put forward by Mr. Treharne Bees in connection with the methods of coal mining in India, one of the most important of these recommendations being a cheap supply of electrical energy. The object of the Company will be to equip a Power Station or Stations on the most modern lines, capable of supplying all requirements in the Raneeunge Field in the first instance, and to extend the area of supply as and when opportunity offers, such as the electrification of the Railways in the neighbourhood of Calcutta and the whole of the Branch lines and Sidings serving the Colliery areas, etc.

It is proposed to locate the Power House on the bank of the Damuda River, between Raneeunge and Asansol, where an ample and permanent of supply of water is assured.

The Company's Consulting Engineers, Messrs. The Tata Engineering Co., Ltd., have carried out a detailed survey and have prepared estimates of the probable load, the cost of generation and the probable return on the capital required. Prospective consumer have expressed themselves as most anxious to make immediate use of the supply of electrical energy from a Central Station, and it is estimated that there will be an initial demand of approximately 25 million units per annum. As a large portion of this load will be taken for pumping purposes, a good load factor on the system may be anticipated.

An increase to some 40 million units per annum can be looked for in the near future, and after consideration of the estimates as to capital, generation and distribution cost, the Consulting Engineers feel no hesitation in recommending the project as a sound medium for investment.

Turbo-alternators will be installed in the Central Power Station, generating at 6000/6600 volts, three-phase, fifty-cycle, with distributing lines operating at 50,000/55,000 volts, using suitably situated sub-stations for supplying groups of Collieries, &c., at 3000/3300 volts.

The estimates of generation and distribution costs have been carefully prepared, and assuming a selling rate of 75 anna per unit, a satisfactory margin of profit is assured.

The whole of the first issue of capital was oversubscribed, and no applications for shares can now be considered.

The Company has been formed for the purpose of manufacturing Electric Wires and Cables in India to meet the existing and rapidly growing demand for these materials in this country. Owing to the enormous demands for reconstruction purposes after the War, in Europe in particular, and generally throughout the world, supplies of all types of electric wires and cables are likely to become more difficult to obtain, and those that are available, will only be so at greatly increased cost to the user for many years to come.

With the great industrial development in India already in view, and with particular reference to the expansion in the electrical industry as a result of the recent Hydrographical Survey carried out by the Government of India, it is believed that the time has arrived when the establishment of this industry in India will not only prove of great value to the country, but offers an excellent prospect of commercial success and a profitable return to the shareholders.

The services of the Enfield-Ediswan Cable Works, Ltd., have been secured as Consulting Engineers and Technical Advisers to the Company on reasonable terms, and their assistance and technical guidance, both in the initial stages of construction and subsequent working will be of the greatest value to the Company and obviate many of the risks attending the successful establishment of a new industry in this country.

Practically all the materials required in the process of manufacture are available in this country, and the Company will have therefore no difficulty in obtaining its requirements at satisfactory prices. The Factory itself will be located at Jamshedpur on a site to be leased on reasonable terms from the Tata Iron and Steel Co., Ltd. The arrangement with the Steel Company will include the necessary land for Factory buildings, staff and labour housing, light and power, and the usual amenities in regard to water supply, sanitation, etc.

Plans and estimates for the buildings are now being prepared and the Company's Consulting Engineers are making the necessary arrangement for obtaining the machinery and plant required.

The Company has been registered on the basis of a Statement in lieu of Prospectus, and the whole of the issued capital is privately subscribed. No shares are available for public subscription.

A tale which holdeth children from play,

The exquisitely graceful

The Costumings, Settings, and each and

ANCIENT MONUMENTS IN INDIA.

A great deal of interest has been shown by people in the work of excavation which is being carried out in various parts of the world, and it is very likely that the Governments will show a keener desire to afford facilities for archaeological research. Lord Curzon rendered great service to the country by the steps he took to preserve the many valuable monuments of the past, scattered all over India. Others had taken interest in the work, but it was left to him to take the matter seriously in hand and to insist on a greater activity in the departments concerned with the care of these relics. The Archaeological Department has been loyally supported by the Government since its foundation, and in several places the work carried out has proved of the greatest value. Then, too, patriotic and wealthy individuals have come forward and augmented the efforts of the Government. The name of Sir Ratan Tata will always be associated with this good work and it is largely owing to his munificent contributions that the Director-General of Archaeology has been able to unearth such treasures as have been found in Kashmir and in the vicinity of Patna. The work is not complete by any means and we believe funds will be forthcoming to enable the Department to complete its work in this promising area. The Begum of Bhopal has spent large sums of money on the excavation at Sanchi, where some of the most significant discoveries have been made. Then, too, certain Indian States have given attention to the matter and have either enlisted the aid of the Department established by the Government of India, or have set up one of their own. Excellent work has been done by the officer-in-charge of the Archaeological Department of Mysore, whose year reports are full of interesting facts relating to the many valuable monuments of the State. The period of indifference has passed and there is a desire on the part of the people themselves to see these interesting places preserved.

We believe that certain rules have been passed by the Government of India regarding the care of these old monuments, but we do not think they have had very much effect. No one appears to have special powers whereby steps can be taken against any who deface or destroy these buildings, especially if they happen to be private property. We notice that the officer in the Mysore State, in his last report, asked that powers be given whereby all such monuments be protected, for he feared that they would otherwise be destroyed. There surely is a point at which the monument of the past become national, and how ever clearly the owner may prove his right to them, the Government should step in and insist that he must hold them as national property in which all classes have an interest. Fortunately, the Government of India have control over a greater number of important ones and are able to exercise their responsibility towards them. In England very stringent laws have been passed to prevent many national monuments being lost to the nation. For instance, till a year or two ago, the famous Stonehenge, probably the most interesting monuments of England's past existence, belonged to a private individual. It would have been nothing less than a disgrace had such an owner been at liberty to dispose of his possession as he thought fit. In this particular case no law was necessary, for it was generously handed over to the nation as a free gift. The Government has the right to establish guardianship even over monuments which are in private possession. This power might well be given to the Provincial Governments of India, for there are many ancient monuments over which they have no direct control and which, for lack of attention, are falling to pieces. Authority should be given so that the Department may report when there is any danger of destruction, and take such steps as are deemed necessary to save the structure. Fines can be imposed in England on persons defacing or destroying these ancient places, and even in this country some authorities have gone so far as to put up notices of warning. These doubtless act as a deterrent, but more vigilant supervision is necessary if the proper care is to be taken.

Attempts have been made to restore some ancient monuments which have been put to wrong uses. There was a temptation in the old days to transform these buildings into public offices etc. Lord Curzon kept his eyes open wherever he went, and in many instances he brought about great changes. In Bijapur several most interesting places had been handed over to public service, in Ajmere the lovely marble pavilions were converted into common offices, the wonderful buildings in the Delhi fort had been put to all kinds of ignoble uses; the Tirumulanayakan Palaces of Madura are used as public offices. Whenever possible these matters were readjusted, and in this work Lord Curzon received help in some of the Indian States. This was one of the most important steps taken for the preservation of the ancient monuments of India. In many places it has been necessary to make a number of additions to the structure with the object of saving what remains. In some cases huge beams have been added to support the roof which would otherwise be a great danger; mortar and cement have been added to strengthen walls and pillars. These naturally somewhat disfigure the appearance of the building, but there is no alternative if the work is to be saved. There is need for care in carrying out such works. Attempts have also been made, but we fear with little success, to replace the destroyed work with new. Alas! that the Indian workman has so completely lost his skill in certain directions! Then, again, indifference in the past has been responsible for many buildings being allowed to be covered over by sand, earth, and debris, so that little appears of the original buildings. Some good work has been done in excavating such places, and with skilled workmen much may be saved. We came late into the field, but the results already accorded to workers in India will encourage the Government to continue its interest in the work of the archaeological experts, whose contribution to Indian history is of no mean order.

THE ORIYA MOVEMENT.

The Oriya language is spoken by ten millions of people who inhabit an area of 89,000 square miles along with 5 million non-Oriyas. Assam has a population of 7 millions, Burma 12 millions, while the Central Provinces and Berar contain nearly 14 millions. Judged by these standards the demand for a United Orissa under a separate administration should be irresistible. Yet, while much official support lies behind it, a United Orissa has not become an established fact. In 1866 Sir Stafford Northcote drew attention to the injury which Orissa suffered by its inclusion in an unwieldy province. Ten years later a memorial was submitted to Government praying for the union of all Oriya tracts under a single administration. In 1895 the then Commissioner of Orissa discussed the question at great length and showed how the idea could be carried out. Lord Curzon was favourably disposed towards it. But the Madras Government was not willing to part with the Oriya tract within its jurisdiction, and when Lord Amthill was acting as Viceroy, he upheld his previous view expressed in Madras. Lord Hardinge had an opportunity to modify it, but he did not, and Lord Curzon bitterly complained that the interests of the Oriyas had been sacrificed without compunction because they were a non-agitating people. They had indeed begun to agitate in Lord Curzon's time, and an Utkala Conference formulated their demands in 1903. But as compared with the agitation of Bengals and Beharis, the Oriya agitation was mild. The strength of the case is felt by officials and acknowledged in the Montagu-Chelmsford report. It remains for the Oriyas to agitate and agitate until they gain their object.

The Ganjam Oriya Samaj, Aska, has published an excellent book on the movement. It is written by two able but anonymous graduates and the cost of the publication, we are told, is borne by the Hon. Mr. M. S. Das. The book is a very informing and convincing document, which answers almost every question that must occur to the reader. Of the ten million Oriyas, seven millions are in British territory and three in Feudatory States. As they would constitute a majority, they claim a reunion of the scattered tracts in each of which they are in the majority. In the provinces in which they live at present they are in a minority. United they would acquire influence, divided they are denied the responsibility which it is their right to wield. In the early days of British rule the natives of the soil were excluded from all offices of trust and respectability. Upwards of two-thirds of the original proprietors were turned out from their estates for non-payment of revenue, and their place was taken by alien proteges of the revenue officers. The Oriya language was not recognised for a long time. The story of the dismemberment of Utkala is pathetic and will undoubtedly fire the imagination and patriotism of "Young Orissa", to whom appeals are made. As regards the future, it is suggested that United Orissa may be under a Lieutenant-Governor, with a Council of two or three, and of course a Legislative Council. They would be satisfied with a Chief Court, or with two of the Judges of the Patna High Court sitting periodically in their province. They do not lay much stress on details, which officials may settle in consultation with the leaders of the people. They discuss the financial self-sufficiency of the tracts concerned and various other questions with a view to demonstrate that if there be the will, the way must be easy. The book deserves to be widely circulated and read, and the movement is one which is bound to succeed under the new system of Government.

Notes of the Day.

Levy on War-wealth.

If the proposal for a levy on war-wealth is allowed to hang for some time, opponents will have won their point. For a levy on war-wealth will be harder as time goes on and at a certain stage the data to be ascertained must go out of hand. To opponents of the proposal, the means of victory is delay and quiet obstruction. The demand for a levy of the kind has been resisted on two grounds. The first objection raised is that it is wrong in principle, as the gains of exceptional business were open to all and were legitimately secured by the successful. They, therefore, ought not to be "penalised" for their enterprise. The second objection was that it was impracticable as it would be difficult to earmark war-wealth. The Committee which enquired into the proposal has given the quietest to the second argument. It has pronounced the scheme to be feasible, but has objected to it on principle. The demand for a levy on war-wealth has been urged most insistently by Labour, and the Coalition with its enormous vested interests will probably allow the proposal to drift and come to naught.

Cheap Municipal Houses.

The Bombay Municipality might take a leaf out of the book of the Manchester Municipality in respect of its housing enterprise. In mail week the first of Manchester's municipal houses was ready to be occupied by those of its citizen tenants, who had been selected from amongst hundreds of applicants. What low rents are being charged in these tenements, proportionately to the accommodation provided, can be seen from the fact that the lowest rented houses, containing a living-room, two bedrooms, boxroom, scullery, larder, and bath, were quoted in the original estimate at 11s. 4d. and 12s. 4d. weekly, inclusive of rates. The next grades, to be let at approximately 12s. 7d. and 14s. 2d. contain three bedrooms. Others with parlour, living-room, and three bedrooms, are quoted at 14s. 4d., 15s., 15s. 1d., and 15s. 6d. For the largest type of house, which has four bedrooms, the rent has been calculated at 17s. 4d. These figures, it will be seen, are far below those that we in Bombay can dream of, should even all the Municipal, Improvement Trust and Government housing schemes materialise in brick and mortar. The Manchester Municipality hopes to provide at least 1,000 of these cheap houses to its citizens by the end of the year. How many, if any, is our Municipality going to provide us during the year?

"A Cow in Every Home."

Pir Motamayi Sahab of Mangrol, who is the religious head of about two lakhs of Mahomedans, has initiated a movement which is of peculiar interest in view not only of the Hindu-Mahomedan entente, but also of the present general economic and agricultural conditions of the country. The Pir Sahab wishes that there should be a cow in every home in India, as this animal forms an item of special economic and religious importance to all classes of people in this country. "The cow is the wealth of every home, so to increase it is to increase the wealth of the nation," says Pir Motamayi truly enough. He wants to see started in every town and village in India "Gao Vardhak Mandalis" ("cow increasing associations") for the encouragement of the movement. That such a movement as this should have been conceived and fostered by a Mahomedan religious leader is significant of the changed angle of vision of the Moslem and Hindu communities and augurs well for the future. We wish the movement every success and congratulate the Pir Sahab on his patriotism as well as shrewdness of vision.

Local Self-Government in Being!

The local gods having smiled, the long denied boon of electing non-official chairmen was, it seems, conferred last year on three District Boards in the Province of Bihar and Orissa. The Patna and Cuttack Boards are reported to have declined the "boon", because a reservation was made by the authorities in their case, that the chairman "will be assisted in the performance of his duties by a special executive officer lent by Government." The Bhagalpur Board also had refused to accept the privilege on this condition, but the Government later agreed in its case to allow the chairman to perform his duties unaided "on condition that he should spend not less than sixty days on tour during the twelve months, maintaining a diary of the same and inspect all important works in progress and satisfy himself by personal observation that the main communications of the district are kept in good repairs." We do not see why the authorities should attempt to fetter the freedom of the Patna and Cuttack Boards by foisting on them Government nominees, who will certainly seek to be all in all in the Boards. Local self-government will be a sham if, even at this time of day, local bodies cannot be entrusted with the right of electing their own chairmen and being guided by their advice. The authorities are perfectly aware how public opinion everywhere is opposed to their policy of saddling an executive officer on local bodies, but they persist in it even to the extent of denying the privilege of election of non-official chairmen to bodies which do not tamely acquiesce in the official proposal. It is time they changed their angle of vision and abandoned their mania for nominated executive.

Permanent Settlement.

Summaries of lectures are often unsatisfactory a material for comment, but we infer from the lines of his argument that Mr. Vaidya's demand for permanent revenue settlement of land is fairly stated. Mr. Tilak has laid down the plea for permanent ryotwari settlement as a definite plank in his programme, but the question is such that the division of public opinion will not be coterminous with the separations of party. Mr. Vaidya, speaking at Poona, observed that State ownership of land was a false ideal to pursue, but since that theory had been in force in India they might reconcile themselves to it. Mr. Vaidya argued that if it was not possible now to restore individual ownership, they must fix the demand of the State. The argument is governed by a conditional clause; but it is possible to restore ownership to the ryot and ask for a contribution from his possession by way of tax. We are retreating from the position which is assumed as permanent, and with the recommendation of the Joint Committee to make land-revenue a subject of legislation before long, the theory of State-landlordship is bound to lose its obligations. The question is whether a particular possession of the population should have a rigid minimum of burden without reference to enhanced values. We quite grant that other items of national wealth besides land, benefit through unearned increment, but they always remain exposed to further levy. Should a piece of land benefited by a new neighbouring railway line built by the State, be in theory no more liable to increased contributions than areas that do not improve in value by unearned increment? We have to relieve the burdens of the ryot, but have we the material by which to fix the value of land as we restrict the claims of the State in perpetuity?

LAND REVENUE IN POONA.

WANTED A PERMANENT SETTLEMENT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

POONA, May 13. A public lecture was delivered here on Wednesday, by Rao Bahadur C. V. Vaidya to advocate a Permanent Settlement of Land Revenue which has been adopted by Mr. Tilak's party as a leading item in its programme. He said State ownership of land was a false ideal to pursue, but since that theory had been in force in India they might reconcile themselves to it. However, if it was not possible now to restore individual ownership they must at least fix the demand of the State for all time and guarantee to the cultivator the whole of the increase in the value of his land. If it was necessary, an income tax might be levied upon the agricultural income. He admitted that a portion of the increase in land values was unearned, but he said it was not right to discriminate, in any way, between the interests of the individual holders of land and those of the general community, and he agreed that it was not, therefore, right for the State to take any portion of the unearned increment.

DRIVING ON WRONG SIDE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LUCKNOW, May 13. In the Court of Major S. A. Trafford, Cantonment Magistrate, Lucknow, a chauffeur of Rev. Canon Irwin, was charged with having driven his employer's car so rashly or negligently as to endanger human life and there by caused hurt to one ekka driver. The ekka driver, who is the complainant, alleged that he was on the correct side of the road and that the accused came on the wrong side of the road and dashed his car into the ekka. Several witnesses were examined for the prosecution. Two British soldiers appeared for defence and deposed to the effect that the car was on the right side and the collision was due to the ekka driver attempting to get ahead of two other ekkas in front of him and for that purpose going over the wrong side. The Magistrate considered that the evidence of the two soldiers was reliable and acquitted the chauffeur.

COUNTER SUIT.

In the counter case, brought against the ekka driver by Rev. Canon Irwin, the Magistrate found the accused guilty but in view of the fact that the accused had already suffered bodily injuries through his own negligence imposed only a fine of Rs. 100, or, in default, simple imprisonment for three months, and directed that Rev. Canon Irwin as compensation for the damages done to his car.

LEVY ON WAR WEALTH

COMMITTEE AFFIRMS ITS PRACTICABILITY.

PROTEST BY CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, May 13. Reel. at 2-15 p.m., May 14. The Committee appointed to consider the practicability of a levy on war wealth has made their report, affirming its practicability. The Committee suggest that it could be best carried out by the adoption of the Inland Revenue Board's scheme, which is estimated to yield 550 millions sterling and would affect 75,000 persons. The Committee however strongly hold that the principle of a levy on capital which is involved is unsound and would harm industry. Opinion in business circles appears to favour the continuance of the Excess Profits Duty, rather than a War Levy as likely to involve less disturbance to industry. The Association of the Chambers of Commerce is strongly protesting against the levy.

CONFERENCE ON DEVOLUTION

SCHEME OF DIVISION OF POWERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, May 13. Reel. at 2-15 p.m., May 14. The report of the Speakers' Conference on Devolution confirms the forecast made in the last week of April. (See message dated April 27th). Under the heading of powers proposed to be devolved are the regulation of internal commercial undertakings, order and good government, ecclesiastical matters, agriculture and land, local judiciary and minor legal matters, education except in the case of the Oxford Cambridge and London Universities, local government and municipal undertakings and public health. It is proposed to transfer to the local legislatures certain licence duties, any deficit to be made up out of the income tax, while the whole position will be reviewed after five years.

ALLIES' PEACE TERMS.

ARABIA, ARMENIA AND KURDISTAN INDEPENDENT.

E. THRACE TO GREECE: DARDANELLES INTERNATIONALISED.

MANDATES FOR SYRIA, MESOPOTAMIA AND PALESTINE.

TURKS TO REMAIN IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

VICEROY'S MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY.

The Viceroy has issued a message to the Muslim peoples of India, giving the Allied terms of Peace Settlement with Turkey along with a statement by the Government of India, which explains the principal decisions and the reasons for them.

The principal terms are:

Constantinople is retained as capital of Turkey.

Freedom of the Dardanelles is to be insured by a "Commission of the Straits."

Kurdistan to be granted local self-government.

Certain portions of Smyrna to be administered by Greece, the suzerainty of Turkey being retained provisionally for 5 years.

Eastern Thrace, without Constantinople sector, is ceded to Greece.

The independence of the Armenian Republic and the Hedjaz acknowledged.

Mandate for Syria given to France.

Britain to be entrusted with mandates for Palestine and Mesopotamia.

Military and naval forces of Turkey are reduced to the barest minimum.

These decisions, the Viceroy says, are in full accordance with the high principles which have been applied in the peace settlement with all other Powers lately at war with Britain and her Allies. Nevertheless, they include terms which he fears must be painful to all Muslims to whom the Viceroy sends a message of encouragement and sympathy in their hour of trial. The Viceroy trusts the Muslims will accept the terms with resignation, courage and fortitude and keep their loyalty towards the Crown bright and untarnished as it has been for so many generations.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SIMLA, May 14.

A "Gazette of India Extraordinary" issued to-day contains the following message from his Excellency the Viceroy to the Muslim people of India.

"To-day the decisions of the Supreme Council of the Allies in respect of the peace settlement with Turkey have been made known to the world. They have been reached after the most careful and anxious consideration of representations from the Muslims of all countries and you have my assurance that before coming to its present decision, the Supreme Council has shown all possible regard to those representations which have proceeded from the Muhammadan subjects of His Majesty in India. My Government are issuing along with a summary of the peace terms, a statement which explains the principal decisions and the reasons for them. These decisions are in full accordance with the high principles which have been applied in the peace settlement with all other Powers lately at war with Britain and her Allies. Nevertheless, they include terms which I fear, must be painful to all Muslims. The long delays which have protracted your anxiety for over a year, although they have been unavoidable, have filled me with regret for your sakes and now in your hour of trial, I desire to send you a message of encouragement and sympathy, which I trust will uphold you. In the day of the Empire's need you made a splendid response to the call of your King and Country and by so doing you contributed much to the triumph of those ideals and Justice and Humanity, for which the Allies fought. The Empire of which you form a part is now firmly established on these ideals and a great future of political progress and material prosperity is within the grasp of Muslims of India, who have ever enjoyed under British rule the fullest religious freedom. Before the late disastrous war, Great Britain had always maintained the closest ties of friendship with Turkey and I am confident that with the conclusion of this new Treaty, that friendship will quickly take life again and a Turkey, regenerate, full of hope and strength, will stand forth in the future as in the past a pillar of the Islamic faith. This thought will, I trust, strengthen you to accept the Peace terms with resignation, courage and fortitude and to keep your loyalty towards the Crown bright and untarnished as it has been for so many generations.

God save the King-Emperor.

CHELMSFORD
Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

Constantinople.

(2) The rights and the titles of the Turkish Government in Constantinople will not be affected, but the rights to modify this provision are reserved in the event of the failure of Turkey faithfully to fulfil the treaty.

MR. LESLIE WILSON'S REPLY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, May 11. Reel. 2-30 a.m., May 14. Special provision had been made for bodies of troops. He understood that five hundred further applications had been made for passages from India but the Ministry Shipping was unable to divert any ships as he saw no possibility of further assistance in this matter. Replying to Mr. Lyle Bonar Law said that the units stationed in Mesopotamia would be treated for purposes of release in a similar way to the units on foreign service elsewhere.

Lord Curzon, unveiling the Westminster Abbey tablet inscribed "Regenerator of Egypt" in memory of the late Earl Cromer, in the presence of a distinguished gathering, including Earl and Countess and Dowager Countess of Cromer, Lord Milner, Sir W. Garstin and Sir Reginald Wingate, paid a tribute to Earl Cromer's unswerving devotion to duty, his insight, indomitable tenacity and inexhaustible patience. He was the most reasonable man who sought success by agreement rather than by force. Lord Cromer had often told him that the secrets of success in the Eastern administration were light taxation of the peasantry and confidence in Government.

IMPERIAL CLEARING HOUSE.

FOR EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION AND VIEW.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, May 12. Reel. 1-50 a.m., May 15. Lord Milner, speaking at the Empire Parliamentary Association's luncheon to-day to the Australian Minister Watt, who has arrived in England in connection with the International Financial Conference, referred to the question of an imperial clearing house for exchange of information and views between the various parts of the Empire. Such a centre would, he said, be a most effective machine to connect all parts of the Empire and it would thus avoid separate inconsistent policies. In other words, was it not possible for every Dominion's Cabinet to arrange to have one of its members always in Great Britain available for discussion with other Dominion's colleagues and British Ministers about matters of common concern.

INDIA IN COMMONS.

EAST AFRICAN CLAIM.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, May 12. Reel. Midnight May 14. In the Commons replying to Col. Yate, Mr. Montagu said he desired adequate Indian Defence Force, but he did not believe that it was necessary to insult the Europeans in India by saying compulsion was necessary. Col. Yate declared that all European populations in India have passed resolutions in favour of the Government of India's Auxiliary Force Bill. The Speaker intervened. Replying to Mr. Bennett, Mr. Montagu said that the Colonial Office had assured him that full consideration was being given to the claims of the Indians in East Africa. Replying to Sir Thomas Hicks, Mr. Montagu read a statement published by the Government of India with regard to the Afridi abduction of the British officer's wife. He added that the Government of India had assured him that every effort was being made to secure the arrest of the offenders and to exact reparation from the section to which they belonged.

Replying to Sir J. D. Ross, Mr. Montagu expressed opinion that it would not be in the interests of the lady who was abducted to describe in detail her treatment. Mr. Montagu stated that he hoped soon to announce increased rates of pay and pensions for the members of the Indian Medical Service. He recognised that improvement of leave and study facilities were essential, but decision in this connection could not be effective until the Service was recruited nearer to its normal strength.

Signor Nitti has resigned in consequence of his defeat by 193 votes to 112 during the debate on the internal policy, which the Catholics supported, but which the Socialists regarded as being too weak. A later message says that the defeat of Government was due to the Popular Party, which had hitherto been pro-Government, supporting the Socialist's motion condemning the Government's policy with regard to the strike of the postal, telegraph and telephone employees.

LABOUR DISCONTENT IN AHMEDABAD.

NO END OF STRIKE IN SIGHT.

FIRMNESS ON BOTH SIDES.

(From our Correspondent.)

AHMEDABAD, May 13. To-day is the fifth day of the strike, but no end seems to be in sight. The Mill-owners' Association has resolved "to face the strike firmly and not to yield" as some of the capitalists have opened the campaign on their side by paying off the mill labour. That caution money is returned and they are quickly asked to walk off and seek their bread somewhere else. Their eyes are quite open to the losses that would result to them from the deadlock, but they would leave no means unemployed to bring the labour on their knees. Thousands will thus be thrown out of employment. Meanwhile the strikers are heard of punishing the recalcitrant few who dared to come to terms despite the expressed desire of the majority.

Meanwhile nothing could surpass the dignity of the labour as they fight the forces of the capital with manly courage in quite a constitutional way. The Ahmedabad ethics of conducting a strike, are, thanks to Mahatma Gandhi, unique by themselves. People have not still forgotten the year 1917 when Labour brought the strike to a victorious issue without the least violence. Passing of time means more training in constitution and this time it is far easier for the leaders to keep the large mass under control.

PAMPHLETS.

Pamphlets are issued every morning and they are circulated broadcast amidst the mill-population. The evening meetings on the vast "Sevashram" grounds are a feature by themselves and attract most to hear the sound advice from the lips of their leaders. There every person in his or her turn gets up, places grievances before the meeting in simple homely language and receives a satisfactory reply. All difficulties real or imaginary got solved and everybody goes home with a light heart. The twelve mills which came to terms are working, while others have to close. The workers of the twelve mills can go to their work undisturbed by the strikers nor do they think of coming out in sympathy with their brothers because such is the advice of their leaders. The strikers are advised not to visit the mill-area except on business, to find out little jobs which they can do for the day or else to see to their other needs.

CLOSING OF LIQUOR SHOPS.

The District Magistrate has ordered the closing of the liquor shops as a precautionary measure against disorder. The labourers are advised to seize the opportunity and be free from the clutches of the drinker. The men on duty are asked to work wholeheartedly at their places and thus to show that they deserve increased wages and fewer hours to work.

Efforts are made to find out work for the unemployed and it will not be very difficult as the season is coming on when more men will be required in the fields. The fifth pamphlet lays out the cardinal virtues of a good labourer. They are (1) Honesty, (2) Freedom from vice, (3) Diligence, (4) Courtesy, and (5) Efficiency in work. The leaders would like the men to realise each of these in a smaller or a greater degree.

One really feels that a victory awaits those who fight by such clean and decent methods.

ALLAHABAD HIGH COURT.

(From our Correspondent.)

ALLAHABAD, May 13.

Justices Rynes and Gokal Prasad who are appointed temporary additional Judges of the Allahabad High Court, took their seats yesterday after making the usual declaration. The Chief Justice welcomed them and said that at the end of the last year he took occasion to look into the figures of work done by this court over a period of ten years and came to the conclusion that seven judges had not been sufficient at all events since 1913 and were certainly not enough to cope with the present amount of work. Of late work had become heavier not merely in number but in length of cases as well. In January of this year there were one thousand first appeals and two thousand second appeals awaiting decision in fast court. The result was a period of three years elapsed between the decrees in the High Court. He did not hesitate to say that the delay of that character in many cases worked injustice. It was with the object of making some reduction in arrears that some additional judges had been appointed. Mr. S. Wallack on behalf of the Bar Library and Dr. Sapru of the Vakils' Association welcomed the new judges who made suitable replies.

COLLISION BETWEEN STEAMERS.

(Associated Press.)

RANGOON, May 13.

The B. I. S. N. steamer "Arankola" while proceeding down the river this morning with mails and passengers, collided with R. I. M. steamer Mayo near the lower Monkey Point buoy. The cause of collision is unknown. The steamer Mayo sank gradually and lies on Hastings Shoal being covered by high water. The "Arankola" returned to Rangoon for survey, and is lying off the Spark Street jetty apparently, not seriously injured. The Port Officer, the Deputy Conservator and B. I. S. N. Co.'s representatives were informed and quickly got to the spot but nothing would be done with the s.s. May although efforts will be made to raise her.

KANARA AND REFORMS

AMRITSAR LEAD ACCEPTED.

AMENDMENT FALLS TO GROUND.

(From our Correspondent.)

DHARWAR, May 13.

On the Conference assembling at three, this afternoon, Mr. Setur moved: This Conference is of opinion that in order to work representative institutions properly for the real benefit of the people of the Karnatak it is absolutely necessary that all Karnatak tracts within British India should be grouped together to form one autonomous and self-contained Karnatak province with Governor, Executive and Legislative Councils, High Court and University of its own. The Hon. Mr. Belvi seconded. Messrs. Honnapurmath (Dharwar), Harmanagowda (Bellary), Atmarana Sastri (South Canara), Jayarao Deshpande (Bijapur), and Madhavrao Anantpur supported the resolution which was passed unanimously.

PLB FOR INDEPENDENT KARNATAK PROVINCE.

The President then put from the chair the following resolution: This Conference resolves that the All-India Congress Committee should be requested to grant a separate Congress Circle for the Karnatak.

The next resolution appointed a Committee to work out in detail the formation of independent Karnatak Province, including the fixing of its boundaries, and take steps to give practical effect to the objects of the first resolution. The members of the Committee were: Dharwar Rao Bahadur Joshi V. (Balur); R. G. Kadapa, K. H. Mudvedkar, (Belgaum); The Hon. Mr. Belvi, Dr. Savanur, Messrs. Narayanrao Joshi (Bijapur), S. V. Kauljagi, J. M. Deshpande, K. S. Deshpande, Dharwar Rao (Bellary) Rao Bahadur Harmanagowda and Bombay Messrs. R. A. Jahagirdar and R. Venkatram with power to add to their number. This was also put from the chair and both resolutions were carried unanimously.

PUNJAB AFFAIRS AND CONGRESS COMMITTEE.

Mr. Kowjalgi then moved: This Conference gratefully appreciates the labour of the Congress Committee on the Punjab affairs, and congratulates them upon their able conduct of this difficult enquiry. This Conference entirely agrees with its main conclusions based upon thoroughly reliable and carefully sifted evidence, and is of opinion that the demands of justice cannot be satisfied unless offenders, high and low, are impeached or tried, as the case may be, and adequately punished by a properly constituted judicial tribunal. The resolution was seconded and supported by several speakers.

The Conference listened to the speeches with keen interest and resolution was carried unanimously.

REFORMS AND ELECTION.

The most important resolution was regarding the Reforms and Elections. It appears there were differences of opinions in the Sub. Jects Committee, and the opposition finding themselves in slight minority gave a notice of moving an amendment in an open conference. The resolution was worded thus: The Conference calls upon the people of the Karnatak to accept the lead given by the Amritsar Congress in the matter of the working of the Reforms Act and support, at the ensuing Council elections, the candidature of persons whose allegiance to the Congress is beyond all dispute.

The amendment proposed was to delete the words "and support etc." (up to the end of the resolution). Mr. Kowjalgi, (Bijapur) moved and Mr. B. N. M. Desai seconded the resolution, while Mr. R. G. Kadapa moved and Mr. Honnapurmath seconded the amendment. There were six supporters on each side, those in favour of the resolution being Messrs. Venkatram, J. M. Deshpande, D. R. Majli, K. A. Dixit, V. N. Joshi, and the Hon. Mr. Belvi and those for the amendment were: Mr. Mudvedkar, Rao Bahadur Joshi, Messrs. Nargundkar, R. T. Madhavrao, V. N. Jog and Kargundri. It was soon obvious that the overwhelming majority were for the resolution, and the opposition had but an infinitesimal following. There were strong demonstrations of disapprobation against the supporters of the amendment and they were constantly interrupted so as to make it impossible sometimes for them to be heard. As against it the speakers to the resolution were given tremendous ovations, while the opposition followers, several times unsuccessfully, tried to raise wind against the speakers. Mr. Kowjalgi replied effectively to the points raised by the supporters of the amendment, and he was repeatedly cheered and applauded. The supporters of the amendment failed to make any impression on the Conference, and found in the end that they stood in hopeless minority.

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN.

Finally saner counsels seemed to prevail with them and Mr. Kadapa announced that, in view of the overwhelming majority against his amendment, he would not press further but would withdraw his amendment by the permission of the audience. This was greeted with loud applause and cries of "Vande Mataram." Finally, the President put the original resolution to vote and declared it carried unanimously. There were renewed cheering and cries of "Vande Mataram." As it was already past seven p.m. the Conference was adjourned till to-morrow.

KOLABA DISTRICT CONFERENCE AT URAN.

N. W. RY. STRIKE.

A REPRESENTATIVE MEETING.

PROSPECT OF EARLY SETTLEMENT.

(From our Correspondent.)

LAHORE, May 13.

The following official communique has been issued:—

Sir George Barnes and Mr. King, this afternoon, at the Commissioner's office met Lala Rajpat Rai and certain representative delegates of strikers, including Mr. M. A. Khan, Mistri, Mehrajdin, Mistri, Karim Ilaqi, M. Kamti Parkash, M. Ram Autar and others. Mr. Miller was unable to be present. Various questions were raised by the speakers including the reinstatement of the seven men the recognition of the Association, condonation of the break in service and the conditions of the service.

Questions were also raised that an Act for compensation of workmen in the case of accidents should be passed, and that full pay on public holidays should be granted to the workshop staff.

Sir George Barnes urged the men to return to work at once and with regard to the various questions that had been raised, pointed out that the Railway authorities, in an announcement already made, had already agreed to reinstate the seven men whose dismissal was the origin of strike.

RECOMMENDATIONS BEFORE PROSPECTIVE COMMITTEE.

With regard to Unions, railway authorities wished to encourage the formations or unions which are representative of Railway employees. In order to secure this end, when men have returned to work the Agent will call upon the various classes of employees of the Railway at Lahore themselves, to select representatives who will form a Committee to make recommendations with regard to (1) the advisability of forming a Union of unions to represent the employees as a whole or separate classes of employees; (2) the essential rules which should govern a Union to be recognised by the Railway management. The recommendations of this Committee will be carefully and sympathetically considered by the Government of India. With regard to gratuities, the staff must understand that in going on strike they have forfeited all claim to gratuity on account of previous service. It has been well-known and clear to them throughout that the gratuity, can only be given on a certificate that the service has not been broken by going out on strike. The bonus, additions to the Provident Fund, however, stand on a different footing and the Agent has decided that these additions shall not be forfeited, in the case of the men who returned to work.

With regard to pay and conditions of service, generally, the Government of India recognise that it is a duty of the Government to be a good employer and the Agent has already notified that he is prepared, and will always be prepared, to consider representations made through proper channels regarding pay and the conditions of service of any particular class of the staff, and with regard to the question that has been raised as to the security of tenure of members of the workshop staff, he is willing to go at once into this matter with a view to affording men a greater security of tenure.

COMPENSATION.

With regard to workmen's compensation, Sir George Barnes said that the Government of India is already considering the question of introducing a Bill, to provide compensation to workmen in respect of accidents. The consideration of this question will inevitably take some time, as there are many interests which must be consulted. In the meanwhile the Government of India is willing to accept the recommendation of the Agent that as a provisional remedy, the scales, under which State Railways give voluntary compensation for accidental injuries, should be revised. There remains the small question of full pay on holidays. The present position is that the rules allow 15 days' casual leave to the workshop staff, during the year on full pay; but it is often difficult for the workers to avail themselves of this privilege. It is difficult to from the Railway authorities' point of view to spare large numbers of men. At the same time the Agent has already recommended that men granted full pay on the six days' public holidays, in lieu of the 15 days' casual leave, which is at present permissible.

ADVICE TO RESUME WORK SOON.

In conclusion Sir George Barnes again urged that work should be resumed forthwith, and pointed out that the Railway authorities in the announcement already made had shown their desire to act with consideration, and, as already stated, had agreed to reinstate the seven men whose dismissal was the origin of the strike.

But it is not necessary to detail these in the present statement.

GOVT. OF INDIA'S STATEMENT

However much they may regret some of these decisions, Indian Moslems must feel satisfaction in knowing that the settlement has been greatly influenced by their Khalafat. When replying to the Khalafat deputation on the 29th January last, His Excellency the Viceroy gave an account of the steps which had been taken by the Secretary of State and himself from the date of the Armistice onwards to represent to His Majesty's Government the views of Indian Moslems, specially with regard to the Holy Places in the Hedjaz and the future of Constantinople and to secure that their representations should receive full consideration at the hands of the Supreme Council of the Allies. After that date, the representatives of the All-India Khalafat Conference were given every facility and assistance by the Government of India to lay their case before the Prime Minister and the strength of Indian Moslem feeling in the matter has been impressed upon His Majesty's Government in frequent communications made to the Secretary of State. The Prime Minister, replying to the Khalafat deputation, assured the Moslems of India that their case had been presented with great force and had been examined with conscientious care not merely by the delegates of the British Empire but also by the Supreme Council of the Allies. And in fact the representations made by the Indian Moslems did materially influence the final decision. It is well-known that there was a strong body of public opinion both in England and America which favoured the removal of the Turkish capital from Constantinople to Asia Minor and that such councils did not prevail in no small measure due to the knowledge how keenly Indian Moslem opinion was opposed to this step. Indian Moslems have, therefore, the satisfaction of knowing that largely out of deference to their feelings and the representations of the Government of India, Constantinople, was saved for the Turkish Empire as its capital.

Britain Not Unfriendly to Turkey.

The Governor-General-in-Council would next like to advert to the allegation which is sometimes made that British policy has ever been in the past unfriendly to Turkey. For this statement there is no foundation. It is unnecessary to refer to the ancient friendship between the two countries proved by the entry of Britain on the side of Turkey in the Crimean War and by all her subsequent efforts to preserve the integrity of the Ottoman Empire. The forbearance which British displayed and the provocation which which Turkey under the domination of German influence and the leadership of the Committee of Union and Progress gave before the war was declared, were fully explained in the Communique issued by the Government of India in October 1914. It was Turkey which broke the traditional friendship with Great Britain. In his reply to the Khalafat deputation the Prime Minister made it absolutely clear that Britain had no understanding of any sort or kind with Russia. To the detriment of Turkey when the war began, in fact, Britain sought to deter Turkey from entering into the war by giving her the most complete assurances that if she maintained her neutrality, Britain would see that at the conclusion of peace, no conditions would be laid down which would impair her independence and integrity and that economic conditions of a character favourable to Turkey would be obtained. In spite of all these assurances, Turkey took the fatal step of entering the war on the side of Germany and against her ancient Ally.

Question of Khalafat.

It is most important that there should be no misunderstanding about the attitude of Government towards the question of the Khalafat. The Government of India repeat again that the question of the Khalafat is one for Mohammedans and Mohammedans only to decide and that with their free choice in this matter Government have no desire to interfere, but they cannot acquiesce in the Khalafat which is now made that the Khalafat of the Ottoman Sultan has remained unchanged in its temporal attributes for 13 centuries or that it implies any temporal allegiance on the part of (Message incomplete.)

POSTAL COMMITTEE.

ILL-TREATMENT OF SORTERS.

(From our Correspondent.)

SIMLA, May 13.

Mr. Mahomed Mumir, head postmaster of Gaya, on Rs. 200 who joined service on Rs. 15 in 1887 and had had so many as fifty-one transfers including to places like Sind and Baluchistan and who by each transfer suffered a loss of about one month's pay giving evidence before the Postal Committee to-day related the difficulties of clerks in getting house accommodation close to post offices and urged that the allowance of Rs. 10 be granted to them. A commutation value of one-fourth pay should be given to the family of deceased employees who had put in a service of twenty-five years. On account of the insufficiency of the relieving staff, clerks in Bihar could not get leave whenever they wanted and it was difficult to get probationers because of the law pay and long hours of work. If split duty were to be stopped the existing staff had to be increased, and it would be better to grant commutation of Rs. 10 to split duty clerks, so that they might get accommodation near office and work for longer hours.

BABU NAGENDRA NATH DE.

The next witness Babu Nagendra Nath De, head clerk of Calcutta R. M. S., was a graduate of the Calcutta University who joined service in 1900 on Rs. 40 and was now getting Rs. 120. Since the termination of the war he said the work in the R.M. S. had gone up by leaps and bounds and yet the increase of staff had been sanctioned. Consequently, the staff was subjected to all sorts of disease and were often obliged to go on leave. In a place like Calcutta it was impossible for a man with a family to live on anything less than Rs. 200 and so every clerk should start on Rs. 50 with an annual increment of Rs. 5 till Rs. 100 and then increment being by Rs. 10 every year till Rs. 200. Witness wanted a presidency allowance of 25 per cent. and house rent of 25 per cent. of pay for each clerk, reminding the Committee of the acuteness of the house problem in Calcutta. Though the department was unpopular in Calcutta, yet there was no difficulty of getting unpaid probationers who were matriculates because they did not get appointment elsewhere.

In conclusion witness informed the Committee of ill-treatment meted out to Orday.

MILITARY OFFICERS CHARGED.

BREACH OF TRUST AND EMBEZZLEMENT.

HEARING OF EVIDENCE

(Associated Press.)

POONA, May 13.

The hearing of evidence, in connection with the charges of breach of trust and misappropriation of money, amounting to Rs. 17,000, against Capt. C. H. Ohara, Officer Commanding, the Followers, Central Depot, Kirkee, and Lieut. H. G. Maclean, Quartermaster, were resumed, to-day, before Lt. Colonel. Cumberlege, Cantonment Magistrate. The question of custody of the accused was raised at the outset, and the Magistrate ordered that they should be handed over to the Police and detained at the close of the day's proceedings. Sub-Inspector Wagle was then called and, in answer to questions, said that payments for cooking pots applied for by Government amounted to the extent of Rs. 3,597 which was irregular, as this had nothing to do with Government who did not supply cooking pots.

Lt. Thomas Saunders, Inspector of Accounts, said that he was deputed to examine the accounts of the Depot, on three occasions, and had reported confidentially on the accounts and stated that he had come to know that there was discontent amongst some of the men regarding the quantity of rations issued.

Jemadar Mahadad Singh described how the stores were dealt with from the time of issue by the S. and T. Department till they reached the Company Commanders. Witness was Indian Quartermaster, and saw the rations issued. What the Government did not supply such as curry stuff, meat, and vegetables, were supplied from the proceeds of the per cent deduction. The exchange was made on a chit from the Quartermaster, accused No. 2. This took place on three occasions, and on two others no chits were given by the officer. Witness gave details of the stores issued on these two occasions from his note book.

Counsel for Lieut. Maclean applied for bail which was opposed by the Government pleader who said that section 497 required the accused to show that there was no reasonable grounds for thinking that they were guilty. Accused's counsel contended that it was not intended that the Section should be punitive, but was only meant to secure attendance of prisoners. The Magistrate admitted the accused to bail on personal recognisance of Rs. 1,000 and two sureties of Rs. 1,000 each.

POONA, May 14.

At the resumed hearing to-day of the case in which Capt. C. H. Ohara, Officer Commanding Followers, Central Depot, Kirkee, and Quartermaster Lieut. H. G. Maclean are charged with breach of trust and misappropriation, the Depot bania Methoo Jomhaz examined stated that the accused sold him rations worth Rs. 10,500 and he had supplied curry stuff and vegetables to the value of Rs. 3,500. He had paid Lt. Maclean one sum of Rs. 747-5-6 for rations and he had paid Mohanlal, contractor, Rs. 6,750 for rations and Rs. 2,500 on account of rebate. He paid these sums on the orders of Lt. Maclean.

Mohanlal Chumiram, contractor, gave details of how his account had been settled by Lt. Maclean, accused No. 2, through the bania, to whom the rations had been made over and he identified the final statement of account tendered by him, which was paid.

The counsel for defence took exception to the document going in, as it was not stamped. The prosecuting counsel stated the document was found among papers in the office and had been handed over by the new Quartermaster to Sub-Inspector Wagle.

At the conclusion of this witness's evidence the Magistrate remarked that after even three hearings he was unable to make out what was the prosecution's case. The Government Pleader asked to be allowed to make a statement on the subject at the next hearing.

KHILAFAT AND NON-CO-OPERATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "CHRONICLE."

Since it is now a few people only who are aware of the existence of the Khilafat question, the Editor of the "Chronicle" has done a very good service in publishing this article. It is a very timely and important one. The Khilafat question is not a religious question, but a political one. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in India. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the British Empire. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the world. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the future. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the present. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the past. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the future. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the present. It is a question of the rights of the Muslims in the past.

And what shall we, Hindus, Parsis and Christians, who are non-Muslims, do? Shall we merely look on and let our duty be done by others? Or shall we take an active part in the struggle? Every Indian has to decide for himself, for the weal or woe of the India of the future. Mr. Gandhi's scheme of non-co-operation is the only programme at present before the country. We shall here confine ourselves to meeting the issues Mr. Jamshed N. R. Mehta has raised in his letter on the non-co-operation of the Muslims. Mr. Mehta is a well-known for his sincerity and earnestness of purpose and his views are entitled to serious consideration. Firstly, then, the question of the merits or otherwise of the Khilafat question. While one need not enter into the details of this question, one cannot refuse to take into account the pledges of the Premier and the Viceroy to Indian Muslims on the question. To non-Muslims for whom scriptural authority has no weight, they alone count. Speaking as I am as a Hindu, I am in the House of Commons, Mr. Lloyd George himself admitted that the pledge to Indians was deliberate and binding upon Britain. And in the face of that admission, why need we go behind it? And it does not require much scrutiny to say that a Turkish settlement such as has been settled upon at the San Remo conference is in flagrant violation of the pledges. Let us base the Khilafat movement mainly on the right of India as a whole to demand the fulfilment of the pledges given to her. Great Britain must be told that her honour cannot be maintained unless she is true to her word. If she does not strain every nerve of hers to keep her pledged words.

Next arises the question as to what part non-Muslims shall take in the Khilafat movement. Mr. Mehta says that he would participate in it primarily out of humane feelings and secondarily as an Indian. But that cannot be so. Charity begins at home and if it is only humanitarian sentiments that place any obligation on Indian non-Muslims, then, considering the risks of such participation, let non-Muslims rather be out of it. But the fact is that the duty we owe in this matter is at the core of our very existence. An India that dares not stand or fall by the righteous cause of one fifth of her population does not deserve to have a national existence.

Our attention is next rightly drawn to the duty we owe to Britain as members of the British Empire and its content with our duty to our Muslim brethren. But what shall be the standard of our duty towards the Empire? Shall we make the arbitrary dictums of British statesmen the standard of our duty? No free people or people who aspire to be free can do so. For the essence of freedom is enlightenment of conscience and obedience to it. And conscience is not a thing that can be imposed from without, but it is a thing that grows from within. It is a thing that is born of the sense of duty and duty, however thorny and unpleasant it may be. Duties are not generally pleasant. Duty is mostly irksome unless we have submerged our egotistic existence in it. Then the question for us is to decide whether Mr. Gandhi is wrong, when in his characteristically lucid and forceful style, he answers the question for himself saying: "If it is true, as I hold it to be true, that the Indian Mussalman have a cause that is just and is supported by scriptural authority, then for the Hindus not to support them to the utmost would be a cowardly breach of brotherhood and they would forfeit all claim to consideration from their Mohomedan countrymen. As a member of the position I claim, if I did not support Indian Mussalman in their struggle to maintain the Khilafat in accordance with their religious belief. I believe that in supporting them I am rendering a service to the Empire because by assisting my Mohammedan countrymen to give a disciplined expression to their sentiment it becomes possible to make the agitation thoroughly orderly and even successful." Certainly Mr. Gandhi is not wrong. His conscience never leads him wrong.

Thus we, non-Muslims have to remember that it is an incumbent duty on us to assist our Mohammedan brethren in their righteous cause and that in doing so, if we have to run counter to the policy of the powers that be that control the destinies of the Empire, sustained by the faith in the righteousness of the cause we must consent to serve the Empire following the path of duty and conscience through ill and good repute.

Let us approach the Khilafat movement with our minds made up definitely and knowingly. When we doubt into it, we are at the mercy of circumstances, while entering deliberately, we shall be masters of circumstances, whatever might happen. Once our mind is made up as to our duty, then it will be time to consider the advisability of non-co-operation. The writer, who feels himself bound to Mr. Gandhi's policy, will return to the subject later. In the meanwhile, let every reader think of an alternative to Mr. Gandhi's scheme. Every and any suggestion should be welcome the only conditions to be remembered being they should be something more than mere protests and should be able to lead to the achievement of the object aimed at.

The next pertinent question, Mr. Mehta puts it, whether it is right that non-co-operation should be practised against the Government of India. Mr. Mehta thinks it would not, for the reasons that the Government of India are in sympathy with the Khilafat movement, and secondly that they will not be directly responsible for any dismemberment of Turkey and it will not be in their power, to solve the Turkish question satisfactorily, even if they wished. What is really the position of the Government of India? The Government of India has no separate existence except as the agents of British Crown with responsibility to the British Parliament. As mere servants of the Crown and Parliament, the Government of India must stand or fall by the actions of Britain. There is not much to be said about the sympathies of the Government of India towards the Khilafat movement only demands that the pledges of the Government of India and Imperial Government on the basis of which Indian Muslims fought their religious and helped in the conquest of the Ottoman territory shall be runned. It would certainly be too flagrant for even the Government of India with its traditional practice of breach of faith with its people, to go indignant over demands for fulfilment of pledges made by themselves and that voluntarily. Great Britain being a party to the pledges to Indian Muslims is bound to keep it. But what is it that we actually need? We see that Great Britain takes the largest part in the dismemberment of Turkey. Of course Britain has the plea that the Allies have a hand in the Turkish settlement and Britain is only one amongst the many. Then, cannot as a least step, Britain decline to undertake any responsibility in Mesopotamia and Palestine. Will France care so much for Syria, if Britain will show that she does not care for Mesopotamia, out of deference to Indian sentiments? The fact, though it is not a pleasant one, has to be recognised that Britain is a predominant factor in helping the dismemberment of Turkey, against which we are protesting. So, any pressure, that can be brought on the Government of India will react on Britain and will therefore be justifiable. The Government of India are merely local representatives of Britain. They have no separate entity and therefore, no conscience of their own. However much the Government of India might think that the Indian case is just, it cannot but obey orders from above to suppress the Khilafat movement. If the Government of India really want to be distinguished from the Imperial Government and want to be treated with consideration and that account, though it will be constitutionally in the right, it would at least earn a moral right to consideration at the hands of the people, if it will give some practical manifestation of its sympathies. The Government of India can, for instance, refuse to permit its delegate to sign the Peace Treaty. It will be within its rights constitutionally. Such action may not amount to much but it will be some sign of its good faith. If by means of constitutional agitation or non-co-operation, the Government of India can be made to realise the depth of feeling in the country and the seriousness of the situation, certainly, it can do much towards officially bringing the facts before the Supreme Council. India has a separate representation at the Peace Conference and it is noted that chiefly in that account the Supreme Council has refused to hear the Khilafat Delegation on the ground that it does not represent the Government of the territory concerned. And as the Government responsible for peace and tranquillity in India the Indian Government can certainly plainly acquaint the Supreme Council, of the Indian Muslim view and the disloyal sentiments are disregarded. The Supreme Council will not dare calmly to proceed with the task of partitioning Turkey and dividing the spoils in the face of such strong expression of opinion.—Yours, etc.,

HARRASSING A TENANT.

LANDLORD FINED RS. 60.

(From a Correspondent.)

The lower courts have of late been harring before them harrowing tales of oppression on the part of landlords towards their tenants, but no houseowner has ever been convicted of a more disgusting offence than the one with which one Peter Gabriel De Almeida, a wealthy East Indian landlord of De Monte Street, Bandra, had been recently charged by his tenant Mr.
Shamrao Narayan Chachad, in the court of Mr. E. W. Perry, I.C.S., First Class Magistrate, Palki Hill, Bandra.

The complainant is Head Clerk in the Bombay Municipal Schools Committee office and lives in a house adjoining that of the accused who is the owner of the house.
Complainant had received a notice from the accused to vacate the house, but he said he could not do so. The accused also demanded the enhanced rent of Rs. 30 (from Rs. 18) which was refused. Then with a view to harass the complainant the accused resorted to various devices. He stopped the latter's water supply by refusing to pay the municipal water tax bill.

After that, it was further alleged the accused took to annoying the complainant by repeatedly throwing night soil in front of his dining place.

A snapshot and an enlarged photo showing the accused in the act of throwing dirt were put in as exhibits in the case. The snapshot was taken of the accused in delicto flourishing a secret cogen of vantage on the 17th ultimo between 9 and 10 a.m.

Though the accused pleaded not guilty and put forward an elaborate defence, the Court held it proved "that the accused did throw night soil a number of times on to complainant's premises. His object in throwing it seems sufficiently clear from the relations between the parties and the statement which accused made to complainant on 1-4-1920. 'If you pay more rent you may stop, otherwise I will harass you in various ways.'"

Accused was convicted of an offence, under I. P. C. Sec. 341 and 511 and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 60 within three days or on default to simple imprisonment for 5 days.

Mr. Pandurang V. Patil with Mr. V. T.
Joshi appeared for the complainant, while
Mr. D. W. Patwardhan, defended the accused.

THE NOTIFIED AREA COMMITTEE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRONICLE.
Sir,—All the residents of the sub-urba area known as the Notified area, Salsette will be much obliged if you will be pleased to yield your powerful pen against the humbug of what is known as the Notified area Committee. From time to time, some people who had had the foretaste of the operation its so called rules and regulations, came forward to raise a voice of protest against it but their feeble efforts sank into insignificance before the din and turmoil of other events far greater importance which shook the nation to its very foundation. All along, the great members of this august body, however, have been treating every voice of protesagainst it with supreme indifference and even contempt.

The Notified Area Committee was established in or about 1907, and, although, some eleven years have passed since then, yet they have not done anything to justify their existence. Hence it is but natural that people should look upon it with distrust and take it to be more a nuisance rather than blessing. The Constitution is rotten, and its building bye-laws, Greek and Latin, to most of the people for whom they are meant.

It seems that it is not the duty the Notified Area Committee to repair the roads as they have so far failed and neglected to do so. The cleaning and lighting work is done in halfhearted manner. The members of the Committee are blessed beings whose duty seems to be simply to nod as others do. They have made it difficult to have the benefit of their counsels, as they seldom meet, and when they meet, it always at distance—the Palki Hill. I hope the people of this area will shake off the lethargy which has overtaken them so long, and carry on a vigorous agitation to reform the constitution and working of this out of date and almost useless institution.—
Yours, etc.

CASTE AND MOUSTACHE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRONICLE.
Sir,—Some days back you announced that Dr. Mangaldas V. Mehta who was the first Indian to be admitted as a fellow of the Royal College of Physicians was due to arrive in India this month. The doctor landed in Bombay last week. I write this letter with a view to bring to the notice of the public a new way of performing "Prayashchit" (Penance). You are perhaps aware that "Prayashchit" is a compulsory infliction on those who cross the black waters as they say for those who want to remain in the fold of their caste. According to the interpretation of the Shastras, as is prevalent till now, no body is supposed to have done this without sacrificing his moustache, even though he may be unwilling to do so. Dr. Mehta, perhaps, under the guidance of some shrewd Brahmin has found a way out of this. He has been clever enough to escape this infliction and has successfully performed the "Prayashchit" without sacrificing his moustache which is so dear to a Hindu. To my knowledge the Hon. Mr. C. V. Mehta, his elder brother, was the first to initiate this reform. I wish to draw the attention of the public to this innovation which will really be a boon to those who do not propose to suffer the indignity attached to the loss of the moustache. The orthodox among the Hindus will surely be alienated at this innovation but I am sure the reformers will rejoice at it. Certainly the two brothers deserve to be congratulated for this happy innovation but more than the brothers the caste which allows this should surely earn more congratulations.—Yours, etc.,

K. M. KHANDWALA.

KEEP YOUR STOMACH FREE FROM ACID.

A WISE PRECAUTION ADVISED BY SPECIALISTS.

Acid is the underlying cause of practically all forms of digestive and stomach trouble, and it is for this reason that specialists aim at neutralising acidity of the stomach before attempting other treatment. The method invariably followed is to advise the sufferer to take half-a-teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals, and it is a remarkable fact that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred no other treatment is found necessary. This is because Bisurated Magnesia neutralises the acid which is the actual cause of the trouble, and good results are then quickly noticeable. The inflamed stomach is soothed and comforted; food no longer ferments or causes heartburn, wind or flatulence, and as perfect digestion is restored, there is a decided improvement in the general health. It is therefore always wise to take steps to prevent the dangerous accumulation of acid in the stomach, and to this end specialists strongly advocate the regular use of Bisurated Magnesia by all who are subject to attacks of digestive or stomach trouble.
A large bottle of Bisurated Magnesia in powder form can be obtained from any chemist, while those who appreciate the convenience of tablets will be glad to learn that Bisurated Magnesia is also obtainable in this form in packets containing 60 and 120 tablets respectively. Immediate relief is experienced on taking Bisurated Magnesia; digestive troubles disappear, pains and discomfort are removed,
normal digestion is promoted and, as a consequence, the general health is improved, and life itself presents a far clearer, brighter and happier aspect.

Real Foot Comfort How to Obtain It.

Some good advice by Georges Carpentier, the Heavyweight Boxing Champion of Europe.

who says: "Any foot troubles can be removed by simply dissolving a tablespoonful of Roudel Bath Saltrates in a foot bath of hot water and immersing the feet for about 15 to 20 minutes in the medicated solution thus formed. All pain, smarting, burning, itching, stinging, etc., is drawn right out, and regular use will ensure the absolute eradication of such things as callouses, corns, bunions, etc."

The world's champion boxers, runners, walkers, and leaders of any form of sport in which foot fitness is an absolute necessity, endorse what Georges Carpentier says. Roudel Bath Saltrates can be obtained from any chemist at small cost, a tablespoonful added to a foot bath of hot water forms a medicated and very useful solution which will quickly dispel all foot troubles.

SHEAVES.

Deportations is a camouflaged attempt to muzzle free speech, says an American in the "Literary Digest." "It is a cheap political trick," emphasises another denizen of the land of Uncle Sam. A disgrace aims at a kind of one 'A menace to reason," concludes a fourth gentleman. Will the bureaucrats of the Bombay Castle stop?

Perilous Profiteering.

"Report the plundering profiteer," urge several of the labour leaders of the land of "Stars and stripes." "The eighteen thousand millionaires made in this country in the last three or four years are a greater menace than any other class of people," so says an American leader. "Just as long as there is a miserable profiteering there will be discontent and unrest which repressive laws will not prevent," is the opinion of a Chicago citizen.

American Press.

"Bolshevism is the wood-alcohol of governments,"—Louisville Post.
"The Irish seem to believe that the only way to settle things in Ireland is to settle England first,"—Long Island City Star.
The slogan in Germany is "God save the Mark,"—Mobile Register.

Politics in Poetry.

Old Mother Dora—a terrible borer—
Is it not time you were dead?
We thought you had gone, but still you stay on;
Right up to the eyebrows we're fed.

The Controller of Coal is an artful old soul!
Big prices we've all had to pay.
With his estimate wrong he robbed a big throng,
So why not free coal for a day?

"Answers."
Austrian View of Tiger's Exit.

"The mere fact," observes the Vienna "Post," "that Clemenceau has quit the political field where his powerful personality was dominant immediately creates an atmosphere of release and reconciliation. It is not the course of the Calixtus trial already a symptom of milder air in France and that there will soon be somewhat more of consideration in dealing with the vanquished foe. Clemenceau is not the only one condemned to evacuate his post as arbiter of the world. Wilson is of his company, and in England Lloyd George's position is shaky. It is surprising to remark how swiftly even victorious nations tire of the persons who played the leading roles in the war. Everywhere new figures arise. Changed times demand different kind of men, especially those who are not apostles of hate, and who can point out kinder ways by which humanity may reach contentment and happiness."

Party Virus.

Sindh is also infested with party virus. A survey of the popular prints of the province brings home the depths to which it has fallen. Charges and counter charges are what one reads in the journals. "The same one charge is being hammered so often that one feels tired," writes a correspondent. "Personalities are being dragged in the mire and unparliamentary language used," so writes another correspondent.

A Sindh Candidate.

The "New Times" announces that Pir Sahib of Bulri is standing as a candidate for election to the Bombay legislative Council. The journal relates the greatness of the candidates' forefathers but is ominously silent over the gentleman's own achievements. "The Pir is of the same family to which the great Sindh Poet Shah Abdul Latif belonged. The father of the present Pir, the well-known Pir Sahibuddin Shah had made a great name as a poet and his 'kafis' are sung throughout Sind and Kutch and are very expressive and powerful," so states the Karachi paper. If the gentleman has nothing else excepting parental fame to bolster up his candidature, it is better that he withdrew. The people should be very careful in selecting their representatives for their future progress much depends on them, and it is up to the people's press to assist the public in their choice by publishing the truth relating to candidates.

A Matter for Interpellation.

The other day I read in a London daily that the "Big Powers" had proposed that an international loan should be raised for Armenia, guaranteed by the Council and Assembly of the League of Nations. "That would mean," observed the writer, that the guarantee would be given collectively by the Governments of the forty odd nations at present members of the League, each assuming responsibility for a due proportion of the loan on a scale that remains to be formulated. "If this is true, what would be the position of India?" Will any honorable gentleman elicit the information from the Government?

French in Cilicia.

The following is culled from a London daily:—
The Armenian Bureau in London has received news from diplomatic quarters to the effect that a conflict between the French military and political authorities in Cilicia is having a disastrous effect on the local conditions in Cilicia. The French military authorities, headed by General Gouraud, and supported by militarist, imperialist, and financial interests, are anxious to occupy Cilicia and, so it is alleged, to exploit it to the best advantage of France, regardless of any interests of the native population. On the other hand, the French political authorities, conscious of the enormous difficulties at stake, and of the danger on the Rhine, confine the French rule to a very narrow strip of the Mediterranean coast, both in Cilicia and in Syria. The direct result of these conflicting tendencies has brought about the suffering of the Armenians in Cilicia and Syria.

foredoomed. There is no possibility of settlement by conquest, revenge or spoliation. The world, as Mr. Asquith has said, is one, and nothing but a policy which will give it a common security, guaranteed by a common bond, will heal its disorders. This was as plain to the seeing eye a year ago and two years ago as it is to-day. Had it been taken courageously when the war ended the world would now be far on the road to recovery. Precious time has been lost, and the task has been made incredibly more difficult by the delay. But that is the greater reason why, now that the failure of the soldiers' settlement is open and flagrant, those who stand for a policy of reconciliation should press forwards resolutely and take the control of the world out of the hands of the militarists finally and for ever.

Bolshevism in China.

The "intelligent middle classes" in North China, according to a correspondent of the "North China Herald," regard the introduction of an adapted Bolshevism as the best immediate solution of the country's problem. And, these middle classes mostly comprise the "merchants and educators of China," who hope to drive away the militarist officials by a popular rising. But, there are many, like Sir John Jordan, former British Minister in Peking, who suppose that the peculiarity of the Chinese land would be a safeguard against Bolshevism. "Bolshevism would not make a great headway in China as the land laws are good, the peasants holding land direct from the State," so says Sir John. But, there are others who believe that the "land question would not enter the question of Chinese Bolshevism" for those who advocate Bolshevism in China, says the correspondent in "The North China Herald," "are the middle class intellectuals who anticipate no more than the overthrow of their parasitical official class." "One hears everywhere in Peking," the correspondent proceeds, "the prophecy that within six months Bolshevism will drive the Japanese from the mainland of Asia; that Korea will be free, and Port Arthur and Dally will be restored to China!"

WIFE FOR A DAY.

SEQUEL TO A WHIRLWIND WEDDING

A love romance which endured for a day was revealed at Willesden in mail week when the advice of the magistrate, Mr. Charles Lee, was sought by the mother of a pretty girl who, she said, was married to a well-to-do young man a week ago.

The woman stated that she knew practically nothing about the husband, except that he was in a good position and recently in love with her daughter.

Without her consent he married the girl, and the next day sent for a solicitor to draw up a deed of separation, allowing her £1 a week on condition that she did not molest him.

Her daughter signed the document without in the least knowing what it was, and had now returned home.

The girl told the Magistrate that she did not know what she was signing when she put her name to the deed of separation. After she had signed it her husband told her to go.

She refused for a day or two, but he treated her as though she did not exist, and did not speak a word to her.

At last she could stand it no longer, and went home to her mother.

The magistrate promised to have inquiries made.

WHEN WAS CHRIST BORN?

In a new scientific journal there is a remarkable article by Professor Calder, of Manchester, says a writer in a London weekly, demonstrating with a wealth of learning that the Christian Era has been wrongly calculated. It appears undoubted that Herod died in the year we know as 4 B.C., and it is now believed that the birth of Christ must be dated back eight years.

A portion of the East Indies Naval squadron is on a visit to Madras. H. M. S. High Flyer, the flagship with Rear-Admiral Sir Hugh Tophill, Commander of the East Indies Station, accompanied by H. M. S. Comus, arrived in the Madras Harbour on the 9th morning from Trincomalee and will remain in Madras for about a week owing to quarantine restrictions. The Naval Commander-in-Chief and Lady Tophill are at present on a short visit to H. E. the Governor at Ootacamund.

"Can you make Benger's?"

This was the first question asked of a Nurse by the Matron of a great hospital. The special way in which Benger's must be prepared demonstrates its difference from all other foods.

Benger's Food is not "made in a moment"; it takes a little time, because a first process of digestion occurs, both in the food and the milk, while you prepare it.

BENGER'S
Food

combines milk into a delicious biscuit-flavoured cream with the preliminary work of digestion already done. This means everything to delicate infants, invalids and aged persons!

Benger's is also one of the most highly nutritive foods known.

Benger's Food is entirely British in origin, ownership and manufacture. It is sold in tins by Chemists, etc., everywhere. Carefully follow the directions on the tin when preparing it.

Prepared and sold by Benger's Food Ltd., MANCHESTER, ENGLAND.

THE GREATER MOGULS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRONICLE.
Sir,—Speaking in Poona the other day, Mr. Baptista said that the Governor-General as well as the Governors were hitherto great Moguls and were made greater Moguls by the Government of India Act 1919. Generally as this is true, it is particularly so in respect of the Governor-General. It may have to be conceded that in so far as a Government or a part of a Government is not responsible, there should be vested in the executive the power of law making. But when it comes to curtailing the power of the Legislature even to discuss an amendment of an executive piece of legislation, it is not only anomalous but also over suspicious almost bordering on the retrograde.

Under the Government of India Act, 1919, any ordinance made by the Governor-General was liable to be controlled or superseded by an Act of the Indian Legislature (section 72). Under Section 27 of the Act of 1919, however, it is provided that "it shall not be lawful without the previous sanction of the Governor-General to introduce at any meeting of either Chamber of the Indian Legislature any measure."

(c) repealing or amending any Act or Ordinance made by the Governor-General." It passes one's constitutional understanding to know why the Legislature should be debarred from treating an Act made by the Governor-General against the Legislature like an Act made by the Governor-General with the Legislature. Really if any Act should be open to an easier attack it should be the Act made by the Governor-General against the Legislature. It is not as if a repealing or amending measure can become effective without the assent of the Governor-General. The vetoing powers is still kept as a real power. With that safeguard it is invidious to preclude a competent Legislature even from moving that a measure passed by the executive over the heads of the people's representatives is no more wanted. Such a provision is tantamount to recognising and setting a seal to the despotic character of the Governor-General. A provision like this supplies a legitimate ground for a complaint of retrogression against a measure that is intended to be progressive. It appears that in the din of protest against the legislative power being vested in the Governor-General alone which unquestionably is a by far formidable grievance, this small but by no means unimportant grievance was apparently lost sight of by the competent Indian leaders, as far as we readers in India could gather from the reports of the evidence of the Indian gentlemen as well as their speeches. Mr. Baptista had the amplest justification for inveighing against this aggravating of the Great Moguls into Greater Moguls.—Yours, etc.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "CHRONICLE."
Sir,—I see in your issue of to-day that a correspondent, S. H. B., who is evidently a broker, has rushed to the defence of his confraternity by criticising your leaderette on "A Pernicious System." In doing so he has, however, missed the point completely. Your correspondent contends that the "quida" system is not gambling as a contract is passed and sometimes shares are bought or sold at auction on account of the customer. This requires a little explanation. It is true that a contract is passed between the broker and the customer that shares have been bought or sold on his account and risk according to rules and regulations of the stock Exchange; and it is also true that at times these transactions are completed at the auction. Now, what is the real nature of these transactions in spite of this apparent show of legality? Every broker makes sure at the time of a transaction whether the customer intends taking delivery or giving delivery of the shares he buys or sells. If so he takes a margin or the full amount within a few days of the transaction; this at once stamps the business as a genuine transaction. But in the gambling system, which is objected, although a contract is passed, it is understood that the business is on the quida or settlement system, and in many cases or most cases no margin money is taken; if any money is taken it is only to cover the risk of the difference which may happen before the settlement. At the end of the settlement, that is to say, the last day of the month, the business is ended altogether, hadda made, or if neither is done the said shares are disposed of on the auction day. The question is, and to my mind it is the most important question in this business why make a hadda if the transaction is a genuine investment? To any tyro this characterizes the real nature of the transaction in the bazaar and it is not difficult to see that gambling forms the greater part of the share bazaar transaction as the greater part of the business is done on the quida system, in spite of the show of contract and so forth. The contention is that some order should be put in this kind of business in order to check it as it cannot be denied that great temptation is put in the way of the public. It is not suggested that it should be stopped, certainly not. Only that the Court of Law should not recognize this kind of business which encourages brokers to induce large number of people to ruin themselves on this easy system of making money or rather losing money in the twinkling of an eye. Will anybody deny that thousands of people are daily to be found gambling in the share bazaar on this pernicious system? Let the Court of Law make it clear that no recognition will be given to this kind of business and you will at once see this number vanish. The reason is that our good friends, the brokers, will lose no time in devising their own protection the moment they realize that they have no legal remedy. All this show of contract and so on will not protect them against the charge of encouraging the worst pernicious system of gambling in Bombay.—Yours, etc.

A Watch that Workers Need at the Price they want to pay.

Good time-keeping quality is the main thing in a watch with the man who has to "clock in" to his work. It isn't the pretty case or the fancy dial that makes him lay his money on the counter. He wants a watch that will keep good time. Not for a day or a week, but one that will keep on keeping time day in and day out for years—one that isn't put out of business by a little rough handling that some watches get but can't stand.

Ingersoll Radiolite

The Watch that gives 24-hours-a-day Service.

And to get this sort of watch he doesn't have to pay a high price. In the Ingersoll Radiolite he can get a watch that is especially made to withstand the rough and tumble of everyday wear. Thousands of users find their Ingersolls keep better time than other watches costing pounds more. With its "Radiolite" figures and hands an Ingersoll tells the time at night as easily as by day. This makes it twice as useful to all night workers.
